Thanks to all who helped Pathlight

I WISH to congratulate Pathlight School on the official opening of its new site tomorrow. As a parent, I wish to thank all who have contributed to make this day possible, including Jalan Besar GRC MP Denise Phua and a group of parents for their vision to help children with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) succeed in life through education. Without their commitment, sacrifices and determination, there would be no special school for ASD children.

The contributions of Ms Anita Russell and Dr Lam Chee Meng in practical strategies in the management of difficulties faced by the children were invaluable. They made learning enjoyable and meaningful for the children.

Mainstream schools, including Chong Boon Secondary, Townsville Primary, Paya Lebar Methodist Girls' School and Raffles Institution, also provided support. They opened the windows of opportunity for the children to look beyond their school and to integrate socially. To the junior college aides, I thank you for being so patient and understanding. You lent your ears to my son regardless of how monotonous and predictable his conversation was. Thank you for the friendship.

To everyone in Pathlight, especially the teachers, I salute you. No words can express my appreciation of your devotion and dedication. I thank you for loving my son so unconditionally and for passionately helping him to maximise his potential.

Chan Yook Lin (Madam)
